

Thank you, Achieve

April 11, 2007

Building confidence, and self-esteem; I find this is what Achieve is all about.

Achieve has been working with me for the past tow years now, and I can with out a doubt say that the staff have a real passion, and caring concern for people like me, with a learning disability. Sometimes I feel that people like me fall into cracks in the floor, and can't or don't know how to get back on to the right track.

I very much wanted a job/career an occupation, a way of living. But was in a lot of ways under skilled, and with the skills I did possess, I lacked confidence.

The Achieve counsellors were and are like fine bakers, if I was the flour, they were the eggs, butter, salt and warm water, that blended all that I have and made it possible for me to start making the duo $$$.

With such a caring staff, they made it possible for me to get my pesticide applicator certificate. They got me feeling that I was a real person, and that I do matter in this world. If you are like me, and desire or dream to be self-sufficient, and are desperate to stand on your own two feet, then Achieve will bring you to your dream job.

Count on it, if you're ready to start work,
So is Achieve.

Thank you staff
